Bargaining Bulletin #5: Bargaining meetings continued in Ottawa

Meetings resumed this week in Ottawa, January 21 to 25, between the CATCA and NAV Canada bargaining teams.

With proposals already exchanged from both sides, this week allowed for productive discussions to work on a number of issues and asks. The bargaining process in general continues to be both productive and positive. Both sides listened to the other party's topics and collaborative solutions are being discussed.

The next session of talks is scheduled for February 4 -8, 2019 in Ottawa.

As always, we appreciate the patience and the support of our members while your elected representatives work hard to bring back the best possible collective agreement for your approval. We also appreciate our members' respect of the confidentiality requirements that bind the contract committee members.

On behalf of the Contract Committee,

Peter Duffey
President

Doug Best
Executive Vice President
