Provisional Licence Exemption

On June 19th, 2020 Transport Canada issued an exemption to the expiry of the validity period of a provisional licence or rating.

This exemption applies to currently valid provisional air traffic control licences with a validity period between March 10th, 2020 and September 30th, 2020.

Air traffic controllers are permitted to continue to exercise the privileges of a provisional air traffic control licence that expires during this period until December 31st, 2020.

If your provisional license expires after September 30th, there is no change to the existing process.

Full details of the exemption can be found here.
